In completing a QEP experience within their field of study, students will be able to

1. prepare a written plan for that experience

2. document progress on that experience regularly and communicate that progress to others in a suitable form

3. present the results of that experience as both
   - one or more documents that include correctly designed and executed graphics
   - an oral presentation that includes effectively designed and executed graphics

4. communicate all elements of that experience
   - using Standard English conventions (including effective sentence and paragraph structure, appropriate voice and verb tense, and suitable word choice)
   - using a report format and style appropriate to the academic/professional field, including text citations and bibliographic references to document others’ intellectual contributions

5. handle all aspects of that experience with a professional demeanor, to include interacting with team members responsibly, meeting deadlines, and preparing and presenting project materials in their final form
