Course Objectives:
- To introduce students to the concept of “architecture” and some of the most significant monuments of world architecture. Further, to understand how these structures—like any work present or past—both reflects the ideas and values of its respective culture and functions actively to create, instill, and/or reinforce certain values.
- To introduce students to basic methods of architectural analysis, and to cultivate an understanding of the idea of “architecture” as social-historical construct intimately connected with the past and imbued with cultural, political, social, and religious meanings.
- To introduce students to some of the most significant objects and monuments of the Byzantine, Ottoman, and Hungarian cultures, and to understand how these objects—like any object present or past—both reflect the ideas and values of their respective culture/s and function actively to create, instill, and/or reinforce certain values.

Course Requirements:
- To comply with Florida Tech course requirements, the written work in this course must total at least 3,000 words (12–15 pages). Absolutely no late work will be accepted.
- Attendance is required for all classes and lectures. You are responsible for all material covered.
- No recording of lectures in any form (except your handwritten notes) is permitted.
- Disruptive behavior—e.g., continued tardiness, chatting during lectures or discussions, disrespectful behavior, etc.—will not be tolerated and may result in immediate dismissal.
- Any form of academic dishonesty will result in an “F” grade for this course. You are responsible for knowing all Florida Tech academic dishonesty policies (www.fit.edu/current/plagiarism.pdf), and must acknowledge this by signing and returning the required “Academic Honesty Agreement.” Further, I may submit—or require you to submit—any or all written work done for this course to an on-line plagiarism detection service. By submitting written work in this course you give your express consent to: 1) transmit it over the internet, and 2) sublicense it without compensation to any plagiarism detection service on an ongoing basis.
