Archambault – Proposed Credit Hour Definition for a Competency-Based Course

Credit is awarded for a competency-based course when an enrolled student has demonstrated competency in each of the course’s stated objectives through the successful completion of assignments and exams. This may be done within any timeframe. The amount of subject-matter material and expected student work load necessary to earn 1 credit hour in a competency-based course shall be equivalent to the amount of subject-matter material and expected student work load necessary to earn 1 credit hour in a traditional lecture course, as approved by the academic unit head and college offering the course, and the UGCC or Graduate Council.
